

From the Editor

Dear Reader:

The new year is off to a great start for AmSECT and the Journal. There were forty-three Abstracts submitted for presentation at the 32nd International Conference, which will be held in Anaheim, California April 8-11. These papers represent the work of experienced researchers and students, Americans and our peers from all over the globe.

Although the Conference program has changed to accommodate more presentations we were unable to accept all papers. Those papers not accepted for presentation may be given as Poster Presentations and we hope this option will be exercised. All papers may be considered for publication in the Journal. The Editorial Board and I look forward to assisting these authors through the peer review process so that there will be a permanent record of their research.

We are confident that the original and review articles, case reports and technique papers in Volume 26 will provide interesting and clinically valuable information. This means 1994 should be a great year for our readers too.

Sincerely,

Phyllis Palmer Stark, CCP
Editor
